

Congratulations to ALBA, Greece, Winners of the European Business Plan of the Year Competition, 2005

The European Business Plan of the Year Competition Foundation would like to congratulate ALBA's Dr. Ioannis M. Arabatzis, Despoina Chatzimichalaki, Anastasia Kopanaki, Dimitris Lykoudis and Ioannis Moraitidis on their business plan for NanoChem.

NanoChem is a company that will utilise the power of nanotechnology and light to provide value-added products with novel self-cleaning, self-sterilising and anti-fogging properties.

Results

Winners: Athens Laboratory of Business Administration (ALBA), Greece

1st Runner-up: Rotterdam School of Management, the Netherlands

2nd Runner-up: London Business School, Great Britain

Innovation Award: Cranfield University School of Management, Great Britain

Elevator Pitch Award: London Business School, Great Britain

Visit www.ebpyc.org and www.sses.se/events for more information

The Emmanuel Kaye Foundation

The European Business Plan of the Year Competition (EBPYC) is Europe's oldest business plan contest. Held annually, it was founded in 1993 by INSEAD and the London Business School with the purpose to support academic studies in entrepreneurship and growth of new enterprises.